Alteo announces price increase

Throughout 2018 alumina production has kept suffering from significant continuous cost increases - in particular bauxite, energy, freight and caustic soda.

Therefore, in a very tight market environment, Alteo will raise prices on its whole product portfolio. Price increases will depend on markets and products and will apply on products shipped as of October 1st, 2018.

Alteo invests continuously in new product developments and capacity expansions to meet growing demand on all markets, and especially on advanced ceramics and high performance refractories. Alteo is committed to provide to its customers all over the world the highest quality of specialty alumina and level of service, in an environmental sustainable way.
